East Ringgold Scene Of Try For Black Gold

Wildcat Oil Well Being Sunk; It's Third Of Way To Goal

Out near East Ringgold, little men and massive machines have combined forces and their efforts may well change the entire personality of the community.

This man-machinery combination is probing the bowels of Earth in the hope that she may give up some of her precious mineral wealth.

That mineral wealth is black gold—oil.

About a mile and one-half from East Ringgold, stabbing skyward is a latticework finger of steel, a lone derrick—a wildcat oil well.

Oil is the number-one hope. But the wildcat's owner will settle for oil's chief byproduct—natural gas.

Backed by the Lancaster City Gas Co., this wildcat claws into the earth 24 hours a day, six days a week.

IT IS LOCATED on land leased by the Lancaster firm and if she comes in a gusher, East Ringgold's little economic world will be sporting a stud diamond over night, its land values will skyrocket and all eyes of Pickaway County will turn her way—ar will eyes from the rest of Central and Southern Ohio.

She is called a wildcat well because she is being worked in untested territory. And in unknown territory, this wildcat may turn out to be just the opposite—very tame—very dead—very dry.

But the Lancaster sponsors, its employees and the folks out East Ringgold way do not discuss that possibility.

Instead, there is optimism—maybe she will not bring in 500 barrels of oil a day, but maybe she will produce five million cubic feet of gas. They're settle for either (maybe Lady Luck will laugh instead of smile—or both. Meanwhile, this wildcat claws deeper and deeper into the earth.

Already drillers have passed the 1,000-foot mark.

And they're only about a third of the way to their goal.

ARMED WITH records of all oil wells—good and bad—which have been drilled in these parts the last 75 years, plus having scientific data supplied by geologists, these drillers plunge deeper and deeper.

Already they have gone through numerous strata of Earth's outer shell. So far, each stratum has followed expectations.

Right now, they are trying to bite through the toughest stratum of all—steel-hard lime. They estimate this lime is about 300 feet thick. But down through it they must go.

THEN WILL COME layers of gray shale and shell.

About 120 feet further, they will hit Clinton Sand.

They might find something there. Elsewhere in this part of Ohio, Clinton Sand has produced both oil and gas.

But no definite plans have been made for stopping there.

The goal is 1,000 feet below Clinton Sand—down to a layer known as Trenton Sand. Between these two layers is Medina Shale.

Trenton Sand is expected to produce what they seek—oil, or gas, or both.

What if Trenton Sand is dry? That is a question which will bring frowns when asked in the hills and dales around East Ringgold.

The 84-foot derrick squats along a small stream in Amanda Township, just over the Pickaway County line in Fairfield County. It is just off Ridge Road.

The Lancaster firm has taken oil lease options on many acres of land in that area. This par-

Hit And Run Raids Stab At Commies

Main UN Line Held From New Advances

TOKYO, Feb. 24—Strong American armored forces of "Operation Killer" staged hit-and-run raids today into the heart of the Communist Korean staging area, but fierce Red resistance kept the main United Nations line from advancing.

One heavily reinforced "patrol" consisting of several hundred men and a tank and engineer company crashed through the Central Korean highway hub of Hoengsong, but ran into a hornet's nest of Red opposition.

After a three-hour duel, the reconnaissance force pulled back during the afternoon south of Hoengsong.

It was virtually the same story all along the 60-mile front, where the Reds, holed up in mountain passes and caves, fought tenaciously with heavy and accurate fire against the new UN drive.

A front dispatch at 8 p. m. from the Chipyong sector, 19 miles west of Hoengsong, said Britons and Canadians were battling an estimated Red battalion in that area "where American tank-infantry patrols probed ahead, but the lines remained static."

THE THRUST through Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju, was made by a reinforced armored column. It included an over-strength infantry company supported by a full company of tanks and engineers.

This formidable striking force first entered the town at 9:30 a. m. and later encountered the Chinese fire some distance to the

Nice And Calm Weekend Facing Ohio, Forecast

Sunny skies and cool breezes dominated the weekend weather outlook for Ohio and the weatherman says it would continue fair and mild for a couple of days.

"It's going to be a nice, calm weekend, weather wise," the forecaster said, "with not a drop of rain or snow in view."

Temperatures Sunday will be 5-10 degrees higher than Saturday's, which were expected to range from the mid-forties in the east and north to the low fifties in the southwest, he added.

Readings for Circleville follow: Yesterday's high, 48; low, 26; at 8 a. m. today, 30. Year ago high, 39; low, 21. Sunrise, 7:07 a. m.; sets, 6:18 p. m. River, 12.44, falling.

Mobilizer Urges Everyone To Back Defense Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Defense Mobilizer Wilson promised the nation an all-out offensive on soaring living costs last night and asked the country to unite behind a $150 billion defense program geared for "all-out war or all-out peace."

Wilson, declaring that "we can hardly expect a worker to see his wages frozen without complaint when his wife tells him that the food bill is going up each week," hinted that the administration may seek law changes to hold the cost of living within bounds.

He told a nationwide radio and television audience that America's productive capacity is so great and its economy "so healthy" that rearmament can be accomplished and the U. S. living standard restored to its 1950 high within a few years.

Although shortages in arms and equipment will continue for a least another year, he said, "we are establishing a production capacity of 35,000 tanks a year and intend to be able to produce 18,000 jet engines a month."

Touching on the bitter wage ceiling controversy that has divorced organized labor from support of the defense mobilization plans, Wilson said the economic framework for rearmament "will be solved with justice to consumers, wage earners and farmers alike."

The mobilization chief termed

INTEREST AT ALL-TIME HIGH

FHA Now Being Flooded With Co-op Housing Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—An unprecedented wave of applications for cooperative housing projects has flooded Federal Housing Administration field offices across the nation.

FHA officials report they have received applications for 345 projects, valued at $427 million, in the eight month period since the co-op program started.

Almost 90 percent of the applications were filed since October when credit controls were imposed generally on real estate financing.

Last month alone, FHA received applications for 10,000 units and this was 30 percent of the total amount filed for new and existing home financing during the month.

Officials say there has never before in history been a period of such interest in co-ops and the wave is expected to continue at least for the next few months.

FHA HAS LED the drive for co-ops and it has been picked up on a wide scale by labor organizations, veterans groups and other associations.

Co-op planning is heavily concentrated in the northeastern states where applications worth $345 million have been submitted to the FHA.

In the Midwest, co-op leaders have $53 million worth of projects on file, the South $7.8 million, the Southwest $15.8 million and the West Coast $5 million.

Assistant FHA Commissioner Warren J. Lockwood says co-op housing arrangements result in a reduction ranging from $12 to $20 a month on rent payments.

Another advantage is that financing is somewhat more liberal than that offered under other housing developments which are rigidly controlled by credit restrictions.

To qualify for FHA co-op financing, a group must plan to

And They Talk About London Fog

GARY, Ind., Feb. 24—C. B. Rust, 58, of Gary, who was driving slowly early today because of the heavy fog, got out of his car to see why the road had become so bumpy.

He discovered he had been driving down the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. Before he could drive off the tracks, a passenger train came along and demolished the automobile.

Pickaway Falter In Tournament

New Holland Takes Third Place Slot

A new champion was added to the long list of Pickaway County tournament winners Friday night as it pounded out a comfortable 59-42 victory over Pickaway's Pirates.

It was Monroe Indians, champions of the year's cage classic for the first time in the history of the Monroe Township school.

Monroe earned this year's tournament toga before more than 2,000 fans in the coliseum Friday night as it pounded out a comfortable 59-42 victory over Pickaway's Pirates.

No sooner had the final horn ended this year's county tournament than Coach Clyde Plant was borne to the locker rooms on the shoulders of his champions.

Plant was soaked during the presentation of the championship trophy, although he had taken off his coat before hitting the showers and used it later to cover his dampness.

IN TRUE victorious fashion, the Monroe champions pried the nets from the two baskets in the coliseum for trophies following the presentation, and continued their hilarious celebration later in their locker room.

New Holland Bulldogs earned third place in this year's tournament and a trip to the district Class B tournaments next week with an overtime 38-37 victory over Darby Trojans.

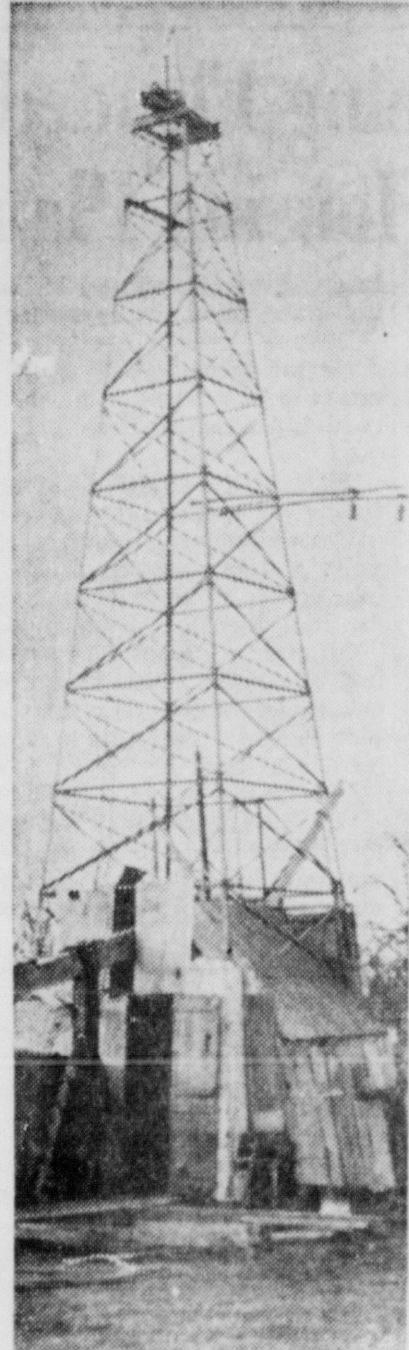

Although the Darby team held the distinction of having bested every other county team either in league or in tournament going into the loser's final, it was no match for the razor-sharp defensive of the Bulldog quintet.

In the Monroe-Pickaway championship contest, Monroe snapped into a 14-10 edge over the Pirates in the first frame and held the lead throughout the remainder of the game.

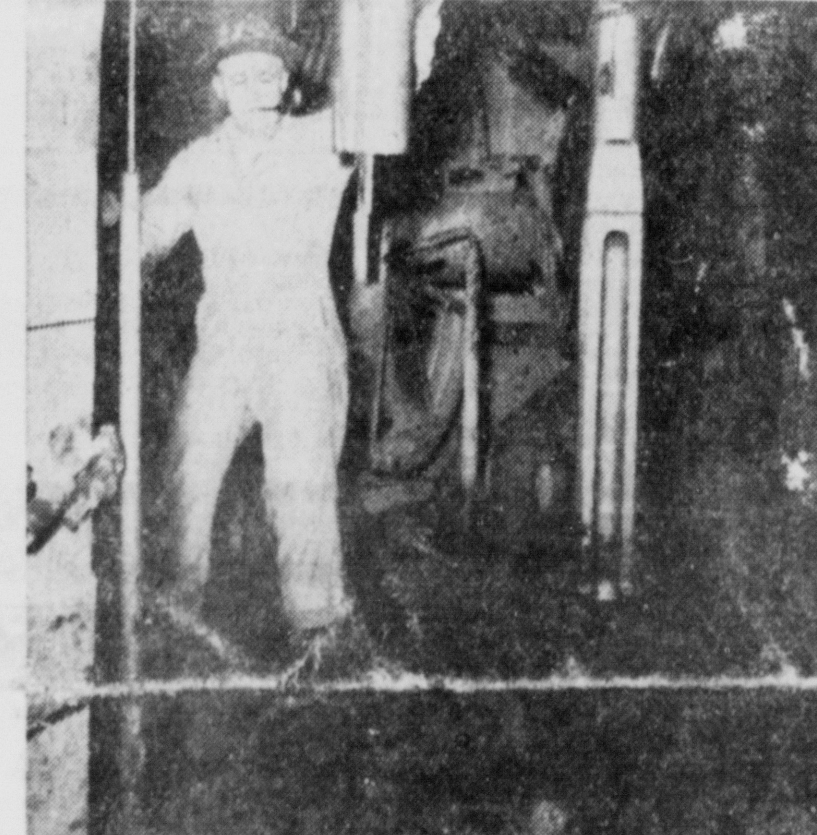

Pickaway was unable to meet the fast-scoring pace of Monroe during the title test, even though it pressed tightly throughout most of the encounter.

Monroe made its mark in the

THIS FINGER of steel near East Ringgold is the derrick of a wildcat oil well now in the process of being drilled. If she produces just natural gas, that will be OK. If she produces "black gold"—look out, East Ringgold will be booming.

DRILLER WILLIS WARTHMAN lets heavy-working bit (right) rest while he sends bailer down well shaft to suck out surplus water. Hole already is more than 1,000 feet deep, is only a third of way down to pre-determined destination.

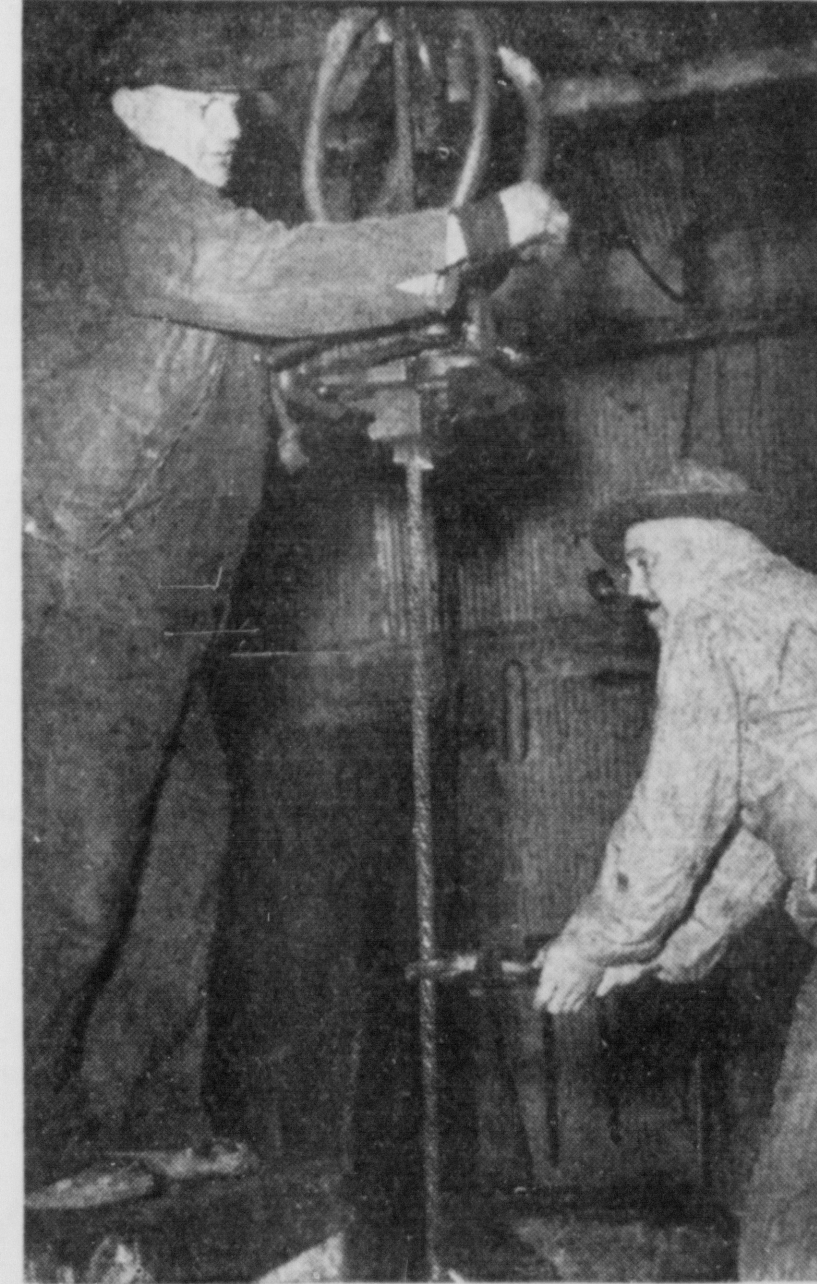

HUGE "WRENCHES" at top and bottom of bit hold the tool while Warthman (right) and his partner, Pearl Kuhn (left), manipulate jack to turn wrenches, unfasten the bit and stem which weigh well over ton. Manila hawser in foreground operates huge reel upon which is wound wire rope which pulls up bit.

RESHAPING BATTERED drill bit takes keen eye and strong back. Sledge hammers handled by Warthman and Kuhn shape the point of the bit after it has been softened white hot in nearby forced-draft oil-burning forge. After reshaping, bit is returned to forge and then tempered. Bit weighs about 200 pounds.

THERE ARE MOMENTS during a drilling job when the drillers can leave the cable (left) which strokes up and down 32 times a minute as it sends bit deep into earth. On bench back of pot-bellied stove, Warthman (left) and Kuhn (right) take a breather, swap yarns with visiting neighbor, D. C. Hartman, a state highway department bridge builder.

HOLE BALED OUT and new bit in place, Kuhn and Warthman secure wire rope before sending bit downward for another session of drilling. Warthman puts twist in wire rope to prevent kinking and Kuhn tightens teeth of gripper which will be loosened by inches as the bit eats downward toward what East Ringgold hopes is black gold.

THE OLD MASTER fingers wire rope control as bit hammers downward into the earth. Kuhn, 70 years old and a well-driller for more than half a century, drills by "touch." Proper tension on wire rope must be maintained constantly so that bit may work most efficiently and equipment saved from unnecessary wear and tear.

ticular well is located on the Emmitt Brown farm.

Plans already are afoot to sink another well near Laurelville.

AND DRILLERS on the Emmitt Brown farm report they understand that a larger natural gas company is planning a series of up to 40 wells down around Old Man's Cave for the coming Spring and Summer.

Three shifts of seasoned well drillers have been assigned to the present project by the Lancaster firm. Two men work together on eight-hour shifts. The operation continues around the clock, stopping only for Sunday.

The first stab into Earth was made shortly after the turn of the new year and was interrupted only by severe cold weather. Since then, rain or shine, the drilling has gone on with methodical precision.

Actually, the word "drilling" is a misnomer.

Those hundreds of thousands of feet of well are not being drilled—they are being slugged, hammered, pounded.

Powered by a constantly-racing gasoline motor, machinery is pulling up and dropping down, pulling up and dropping down—a ribbon of steel weighing two tons or more.

Right now, trying to bite through that hard layer of lime, is a "bit." It is about five feet long and weighs more than 200 pounds.

The bit is attached by delicately-machined threads to a stem weighing a ton.

ATTACHED TO THE top of the stem is a heavy manila hawser, known to the drilling profession as a "cracker." It is about 350 feet long.

To the "cracker" is tied a heavy wire rope.

This runs to one end of a solid oak rocker-beam which is powered by the gasoline engine.

Up and down, up and down—32 strokes a minute—goes the bit—slamming, crunching, clouting deeper and deeper into Earth.

The manila "cracker" absorbs a lot of the snap as the bit is released and grabbed. With competent drillers at the controls, a "cracker" will serve two well ventures. The wire rope may last longer.

But bits take a beating.

As it goes now, that layer of lime is taking a toll on the bits. Drillers are forced to haul them out frequently, measure them for end damage and replace them frequently.

But each bit may be reshaped. Made of highly-tempered carbon steel, they cost a pretty penny. In the driller's shack, there is a forced-heat, oil-burning forge. And it is here that the heaviest part of the driller's job comes.

After a battered bit has been removed from its 2,000-pound stem and heated white hot in the forge, it must be shaped on an anvil. . . . shaped by the heavy blows of sledge hammers wielded by two men.

REMOVAL OF THE bit from shaft is a man-sized job, yet it is done with deftness and precision through a system of counter-balances. Bit is removed from stem with two "wrenches"—each four feet long and weighing 150 pounds. These wrenches turn the bit out—and into—its threaded socket when manipulated by a huge jack with two workers manning the jack-handle.

Each time the bit is hauled to the surface, it is swung aside and the drillers take on another procedure.

They bail out the hole.

This is done with a steel bailer some 30 feet long and with a capacity of one barrel, about 30 gallons.

Along the downward line, there is seepage. This must be removed constantly.

Strange as it may seem this far inland from the coasts, well drillers invariably run into salt water at about sea level. This week, drillers were encountering not only salt water but foul-smelling sulphur water.

They may grouse about the stench, but only jokingly—sulphur water also invariably is noted in areas where oil deposits are found.

SHOULD THE WELL fill up with water—too much water to be bailed out—the drilling will not be halted. The manila "cracker" will be removed, the bit attached direct to the wire rope and the drilling continued.

When a new or reshaped bit is replaced into the stem, it is lowered into the well hole. Gravity takes it down.

With wire rope and hawsers wound on huge reels, a brake is loosened for the descent.

Gaining momentum as the bit huris downward, lines quiver, reels shake, the whole drill shack quakes and the 84-foot derricks groans.

A small hurricane seems to be created within the shack and then, as the bit nears destination, a strange quiet returns to the shack.

Bit cable is hooked to the rock arm and again come the 32 strokes a minute as man resumes his battle to wrest from Earth more of her wealth.

Typical of the seasoned drillers who are on duty on this wildcat are Pearl Kuhn and Willis Warthman, both of Lancaster.

KUHN, 70 YEARS old and as young as many a 40-year-old, is an oldtimer at the well-drilling game. He has been at it since he was 17 years old. That's more than a half-century of coaxing from Mother Nature the minerals she has stored in the earth.

Warthman, compared to Kuhn, isn't dry behind the ears when it comes to the oil well business. Yet this 42-year-old veteran of the oil fields has been plying his trade for 26 years. Six of those years were spent in Michigan oil fields where they go down 3,000 feet before they even think of looking for oil or gas.

Kuhn and Warthman work the 8 p. m. to midnight shift. Gets lonely for them out there in the quiet countryside, especially during the last two or three hours of their shift.

Prior to that time, most of the neighbors in the community have dropped in to take a look at the check board, see how far the boys have gotten since this time yesterday and have passed the time of day with "Kuhny and Porky," as they call the two drillers.

While the great rocker arm handles the pull and fall of drilling tools, the two men cannot sit idly by.

Seldom will a visitor to the drill shack find one or the other of them with his hand on the wire rope control.

These seasoned veterans drill by "touch."

THEY KNOW BY the feel of the wire rope just what progress the bit is making far, far below. There must be just enough slack, just enough tension on the rope, else the bit will not do its job properly. Or perhaps, the fat manila hawser will slap against the cold stone sides of the hole, wear itself out.

Should this happen and the hawser part, there is little left but a limp drilling line on top, a batch of tools far, far below.

But "lost" tools do not worry the drillers too much.

They can "go fishing."

Near the drill shack are numerous bits of "fishing" gear. . . . different kinds of grappling equipment to meet each different kind of trouble.

Only when the bit should strike a too-soft strata which could cave in over bit and stem, would a "fishing" expedition in a well hole be a hopeless task.

And in that event, the crew would just move the surface equipment over about ten feet—and start all over.

One of these days, when Kuhn and Warthman, or their colleagues, hit strong evidences of oil or gas or both in their drilling, it is then that pulses will grow rapid.

That will be "the moment."

THAT WILL BRING the answer to all questions.

That will tell whether the wildcat has been clawing in vain, whether she will produce a gusher, a blower, or nothing.

Then is the time to call for the go-devil.

It will then be time to "shoot."

The drill shack will be cleaned out, casings will be set far down in the hole and the drillers will take a back seat.

Comes then a lone man who will determine in just about two minutes the value of many weeks of labor.

He is the nitroglycerin expert.

Upon approaching the average oil well in this part of the country, he will lower about 120 quarts of the highly-explosive liquid in containers into the well shaft.

Then he will prepare the go-devil—a simple contraption containing a stick of dynamite. Lighting the fuse, he will drop the go-devil down the shaft.

It will have a long drop.

The bottom of the well hole and the awaiting nitro may be two-thirds of a mile down.

About two minutes later comes the report—an unimpressive sound like a pistol shot.

THE GO-DEVIL has hit the containers of nitro. This presumably will set off the highly-explosive charge. If it does not, that is what the fused dynamite is for—and that the jar will turn the trick.

The resulting blast far down at the end of the drill shaft will create a large pocket within the earth.

Then comes the answer.

If hopes of the East Ringgold community are realized, there will come a roaring whoosh—and sand, salt water—and (and black gold?)—will billow up, up and up—over the 84-foot derrick and still upward, the higher the

25 Pct. Load Reduction Set For Roads Here

In order to save millions of dollars of damage to Ohio's highways, now weakened by thaws of the severe winter, State Highway Director T. J. Kauer has ordered a 25 percent load reduction on several roads in Pickaway County.

Kauer said that "the thaw and excessive moisture have rendered certain state highways liable to damage by heavy traffic. We have already experienced many cases where heavy loads have caused pavement failure on routes which have been weakened by thaws. It is our responsibility to protect the roads to the best of our ability and at this season of the year it becomes necessary to reduce load limits on many of our roads."

The following roads were posted in Pickaway County:

Route 104 from the intersection with U.S. 22 north to the Franklin County line.

Route 138 from the Ross County line northeast to the junction of U.S. 22.

Route 159 from Route 361 northeast to the Fairfield County line.

Route 277 from the Ross County line northwest to the Fayette County line.

Route 316 from Route 56 northeast to the junction of Route 104.

Route 361 from its junction with U.S. 23 east and southeast to Route 159.

Route 674 from U.S. 22 north along the county line to the Franklin County line.

Route 752 from U.S. 23 east to the junction of Route 674.

Route 762 from the junction of U.S. 62 southeast and east to the junction with U.S. 23.

Well Producing Pure Gasoline, But It's Freak

A Pickaway County well this week was producing pure gasoline—80 gallons of it, all refined and ready to use.

But there was a catch to it.

Circleville Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the well, owned by Ray Anderson of Williamsport Route 1, was originally designed to produce only water.

And that's what it did produce until a gasoline storage tank about 40 feet away from the well sprang a leak, permitting the go-juice to seep into the well. It also followed a well pipe into a Summer kitchen and caused an explosion last Wednesday which rocked the outbuilding from its foundation.

Chief Wise said that besides the 80 gallons of pure gasoline bailed out of the well, another 20 gallons of mixed water and gas were removed.

"But now its back to plain water again," Wise added.

better—the blacker, the dirtier, the oilier, the better.

IT WILL MEAN a new personality for East Ringgold and, of course, a new prosperity.

If she gushes, you can bet your bottom dollar that there no longer will be just one derrick on the East Ringgold horizon—there will be dozens—and seemingly overnight, too.

While a paying gusher will bulge purses in and around East Ringgold, it will have a far different meaning to such men as Kuhn and Warthman.

They own no oil well stock, have no money invested in the venture. But they have sweat and blood and pride in that hole in the ground.

No one wants to see a gusher out there more than do Kuhn and Warthman.

It will not show on their bank balances, but it will be a monument marking a job well done.

Kuhn, who has seen a lot of bits bite into the earth in his 53 years of drilling, fervently hopes this wildcat will be a payer. In all probability it will be his last drilling job. He is eligible to retire and would like to bow out of the picture with newly-found black gold dripping from his fingers.

north. An Eighth Army communique, lagging behind front dispatches, reported at 8:30 p. m. the patrol entered the town "with no enemy contact."

The communique also announced "limited gains on the right flank of the central eastern front."

Field dispatches reported that in this area UN troops pushed five miles north of Pyongyang to within 35 miles of the 38th Parallel and also encountered heavy Red counterattacks.

The advancing Americans found evidence that the Communists in this area had made elaborate preparations, apparently for their ill-starred counteroffensive which was smashed 10 days ago at Chipyong and Wonju.

Field reports said five new bridges had been built across the Pyongyang river and its tributaries, about one every three miles from the town of Pyongyang for a distance of 15 miles to the north.

Flying Boxcars exceeded this total tonnage by dropping over 37 tons of ammunition, rations, medicines and other supplies to UN troops.

This brought the total for Friday and Saturday to 585 tons—the biggest air lift in weeks. It was made necessary because of the near-impossibility of supplying the front-line troops over the quagmires made of Korea's roads by the current thaw.

Little Walnut Creek Bridge Plans Submitted

Pickaway County engineering department has submitted plans for a bridge superstructure over Little Walnut Creek on the East Ringgold-Northern Road to the state highway department.

County Engineer Henry T. McCrady said plans for the bridge abutments were approved by the state earlier.

Bonds totalling $20,000 to pay for the abutments are being readied for sale by the county commissioners.

Original plan of the commissioners was to issue the bonds and erect the abutments in 1951, leaving construction of the rest of the bridge until later.

McCrady said Friday, however, that the entire bridge probably will be erected this year, the $10,000 cost of the superstructure being taken from the county road fund.

FHA Now Being Flooded With Co-op Housing Plans

build a project containing at least 12 units with 90 percent of the apartments or houses taken by members of the organization. FHA says its field offices are prepared to give full information to any group interested in learning more about the operation.

Despite credit controls, and material scarcities, housing appears to be running at a relatively high production rate.

THE BUREAU OF Labor Statistics estimates housing starts in December amounted to 95,000 units and in January 87,000 got into construction to set a record for that month.

Officials say builders are trying to put up as many new houses and apartments as possible before materials become harder to find.

One expert says: "Credit controls are not going to bother them a great deal; it's the materials situation that eventually will decide the matter."

Divorce Actions Are Recorded In Local Court

A petition seeking divorce has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court by Edna L. Ball of Mingo street against Pern D. Ball of Columbus.

Plaintiff states she married the defendant Feb. 7, 1947, in Newport, Ky. They have no children. She claims gross neglect as the grounds, asks for the divorce, household furniture and that the husband be awarded the family auto.

Also in common pleas court a divorce has been awarded to Tina Mae Brown from Charles C. Brown. The couple was married Aug. 27, 1937, in Ashville. They have four children.

The husband was found guilty of gross neglect of duty. Custody of the children was awarded the wife, with the husband ordered to pay $25 a week for their support. He was given the right to visit the children each Sunday and on their birthdays. A separation agreement entered into by the couple Feb. 8 was made part of the divorce decree by Judge William D. Radcliff.

In another case Judge Radcliff found Kenneth G. Morgan guilty of contempt of court for failure to follow a court order given Sept. 18, 1948, concerning support money to be paid his former wife, Helen Juanita Morgan, for their two children.

The judge sentenced Morgan to 10 days in jail, but suspended it on condition he pay $15 a week for support beginning Saturday.

Church 'News Story' Details War As If It Were Fought In Ohio

Methodist church officials of Ohio, attempting to bring home the meaning of the refugee problem in Korea, have written a "special news story" in which they use Ohio geography and place names.

Strictly fiction, the story attempts to visualize what would be happening if the same war were being fought on Ohio soil. Human disaster is taking place in Korea today where more than two million terrified, starving and bewildered people are seeking to escape from the onrushing Communist armies.

Methodist churchmen say that if the Korean war were being fought in Ohio, a news story might read like the following:

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24 — Ever since enemy spearheads plunged across the Canadian border and enveloped the vital industrial centers of Michigan two weeks ago, United Nations troops have been steeling themselves against the inevitable thrusts around the southern shores of Lake Erie.

Two days ago the onslaught began with twin attacks mounted on either end of the lake. Badly needed reinforcements moving up from the south have been hampered by traffic-jammed roads. It is estimated that more than two million refugees from Canada, Michigan and the northern sections of Ohio are now engaged in a mass flight to the south and east.

Last night correspondents counted more than 200 refugees passing one military check-point each minute. The icy roads are lined with thousands of cars, trucks and buses, abandoned when fuel ran out.

Thousands of hungry people now trudge on through the snow and ice of the worst winter in Ohio history. Campfires appear in abandoned farmyards where hope springs eternal that food may be found which has eluded the searchers who have gone before.

In one farmyard, aides found a Rev. Charles H. Bright and a large band of refugees which had struggled two days and nights to reach this point 27 miles north of Columbus. Bright and his group left Maple Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, following a daylight air attack by enemy light bombers last Sunday morning.

"We heard the air raid warning while in church," the young pastor related. "The raid lasted only 20 minutes but left our community a shambles. The roof of our new Maple Heights church was ripped off and most of our homes were either blasted by explosion or gutted by fire. Casualties were high and we did our best to move the wounded out first in motor caravans."

Five of Bright's congregation lost their lives in the air attack; 37 others were wounded, three of these are known to have died during the flight south. Families have been separated. Bright has not seen or heard of his wife and child since they were evacuated in one of the caravans which left Monday.

Children are the most pitiful of all the refugees. Many have become separated from their parents and move tearfully through the crowds searching for a familiar face. Elderly people also suffer terribly in this ordeal.

One small group was seen burying an old man who had died of exposure and shock. His grave was a hastily scooped hole in a muddy cornfield.

Anyone who has seen these tormented columns knows something must be done, but what, by whom and how soon are the questions these people are asking.

Lutherans Plan Mission Service For Sunday

A service dedicated to mission work in America will be conducted Sunday in Trinity Lutheran church.

A guest for the day will be S. Paul Cole, a layman representing the home mission board of the American Lutheran church, who will present an informative talk on the 1951 mission advance in the church.

A brief meditation for the morning by Ray F. Kibler, student pastor, will center upon the missionary theme, "Gatherers With God."

Sunday School with classes for every member in the family will begin at 9 a. m. in the parish house.

Worship service is also scheduled for Christ Lutheran church, Lick Run, at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Fourth midweek Lenten service in a current series will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Student Pastor Kibler will continue the study of "Voices In Connection With Christ's Passion" by speaking upon the theme, "Pilate's ABC's."

Following the service, the adult instruction class will hear its third lecture on the doctrines as professed by the Lutheran church.

'Baby Sunday' To Be Observed By Nazarenes

"Cradle Roll" or "Baby Sunday" will be observed this week during unified services in Church of the Nazarene.

Each family of the church has been urged to bring a baby to the special service—"even if they have to borrow one for the day," according to the Rev. D. E. Clay, pastor.

Photographs of all of the babies will be taken following the special service.

Young people of the church are to meet at 6:45 p. m. with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Swank directing the program.

Evangelistic service is to follow at about 7:30 p. m., featuring a half hour of special vocal music.

Highroads Of Universe

By DR. J. GLOVER JOHNSON
Professor of Religion
Marietta College

The Christian approach to the race problem includes the formulation of and effort to find the answer to certain basic questions.

First, what is the scientific truth concerning the races of the world? The conscientious and intelligent thinker should know the answer to this question. With the same number of chromosomes and the universal ability to interbreed, man racially is a single species — homo sapiens. Therefore, no race has the biological right to look down upon any other race as a lowlier origin than itself. What is true biologically is likewise true from the standpoint of intellectual capacity.

Franz Boas states it as his opinion that "the differences between different types of man, are, on the whole, small as compared to the range of variation in each type."

He says elsewhere: "The evidence in regard to mental differences between races has been assembled by Garth, who reaches the conclusion that no essential differences have been provided."

Morris Ginsberg, British sociologist, in his Hobhouse Lecture entitled "The Unity of Mankind," says: "By unity may be meant (1) uniformity or similarity of type or character. This implies that despite an obvious variety there is an underlying resemblance in physical and mental structure between the groups of mankind, and that there is no warrant for assuming any such radical differences between them as would amount to an incapacity on the part of any one group of peoples to assimilate the cultural achievements of another, or to play its part in the general movement of civilization."

In thorough accord with these

'Self Denial' To Be Theme In Calvary EUB

"Self-Denial, A Principle of Christian Life" is the Lenten topic which the Rev. James A. Herbst has chosen for worship Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church.

Opening of the worship service will be under the direction of C. O. Leist, assistant superintendent, aided by Miss Minnie Wilkerson at the piano. Sunday is assistant's day in the Sunday school and all of the assistant officers and teachers will have charge.

A "leadership training conference" will be held in the church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday for Sunday school council. The Rev. Mr. Herbst will lead in a discussion concerning the philosophy of Christian training, using a film strip entitled "The Great Adventure" as the basis for the discussion.

A group of local men will attend the 13th Annual Men's Congress of the Ohio Evangelical United Brethren conference to be held in Bellevue, Feb. 24 and 25.

This group will include Manley Carothers, Harry Lutz, W. C. Shasteen, C. O. Leist and the Rev. James A. Herbst, all of the Calvary EUB church.

Although the men cannot be in attendance during the entire congress, they are planning to attend a portion of the Saturday program which includes the annual fellowship dinner and a candlelight communion service. This particular part of the program is probably the highlight of the congress.

Speakers for the congress include the Rev. J. K. Ferguson of Sierra Leone, South African mission; Mr. James H. Barnes, an executive in an auto company in Detroit; Dr. Henry Denman, secretary of evangelism of the Methodist church; and the Rev. F. W. Brandauer, former missionary to the central China mission field.

The annual business session of the Men's Brotherhood will be held and new officers for the year elected.

Revival Series Booked Here

A series of revival services will begin Tuesday night in Circleville Pilgrim Holiness church and continue through March 11.

Guest evangelist for the special services will be the Rev. William R. Hannan of Springfield, who also is a special singer. He will be assisted by the Rev. Alonzo Hill, pastor.

The special revival services will be held at 7:30 p. m. nightly.

scientific conclusions, Robert E. Speer says: "The ethnologists can find no evidence for any doctrine which denies the unity of men. . . . We are at variance with the human facts and with the reality of life until we come into the personal and social realization of the solidarity of humanity."

Thus, the Christian viewpoint concerning the unity of the human race coincides with the conclusion of science. Its greatest theologian puts it in these words:

"There can be neither Jew nor Greek, there can be neither bond nor free, there can be no male and female; for ye all are one man in Christ Jesus. . . . put on the new man, that is being renewed unto knowledge after the image of him that created him: where there cannot be Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bondman, freeman; but Christ is all, and in all."

Second, what is the spiritual truth concerning man as a race? The Christian answer to this question could be framed thus: on the negative side, as individuals and as groups, man is out of harmony both with other races and with God; and on the positive side, God, especially through the example and teachings of Jesus Christ, has endeavored to show mankind how harmony can be established.

Ethical disharmony, manifested so tragically in man's interracial history, is a much more deadly malady than it is usually recognized as being. Because of its deep-seatedness it is almost impossible for the individual to eradicate completely his inherited prejudice against other races. And yet if this malignancy is not removed, the spiritual life of the individual and of the world is doomed. The Bible does not mince words on this matter: "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, cannot love God whom he hath not seen. And this command we have from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."

Race prejudice must go if ever the world is to reach its highest possibilities in the area of universal human accord.

Cross Series Continues In First EUB

Meaning of the cross will receive continued emphases in First Evangelical United Brethren church at 9:30 a. m. Sunday during unified worship service.

Music will be "cross-centered," with the congregation singing hymns "At the Cross" and "Sweet the Moments, Rich in Blessings, Which Before the Cross I Spend." Ray Beery will direct the adult choir in the anthem, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?"

"Confidence," "Come, Sweet Death" and "March in G" will be played at the organ by Miss Lucille Kirkwood.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson will continue "The Cross" sermon series, speaking from the theme "The Cross—That We Might Have a New Deliverance," developed from a scriptural combination from Galatians 1:4; Revelation 1:5 and Titus 2:14.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson says: "Among the manifold purposes of the cross of Christ none is more gracious and kindly in its provision than that which has as its object a new deliverance. More than any other, this purpose in God's redemptive demonstration displays how comprehensive and conclusive is the work of the cross."

"Christ of Calvary's cross meets the greatest need of sin-cursed humanity — deliverance. Unless there shall come to mankind a final and conclusive deliverance from evil, there is no hope for human betterment."

"Work and Worship" will be studied in church school. Edwin Richardson, general superintendent, will assist the pastor in order of worship and direct the church school.

Evangelistic Service Ready

Evangelistic services will begin Monday in Circleville Church of the Brethren and continue through March 11.

The Rev. Howard Whitacre of Pennsylvania is to be guest evangelist for the series, which will be held at 7:30 p. m. nightly.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Mark 9:2-50.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Jesus, taking with Him Peter, James and John, went up into a high mountain, and there was transfigured, and Moses and Elias were with Him. A cloud shadowed them, from which a voice said, "This is My beloved Son: hear Him."

Suddenly the vision disappeared and the three disciples found themselves alone with the Master. As they walked down the mountainside, Jesus charged them that they tell no man what they had seen and heard until He was risen.

A multitude met them. A scribe came to Jesus and told Him of his son who was possessed of an evil spirit. Jesus expelled the spirit but the child lay as one dead; but Jesus lifted him up and he was well.

Finding the disciples arguing as to which of them would be greatest in heaven, Jesus took a little child in His arms, telling them that he who would be great among them must be the servant.

MEMORY VERSE—Mark 9:7.

3 Foreign Students Heard At Girl Scout 'Thinking Day' Rites Here Thursday

80 Turn Out For Program

Three foreign students from Ohio State university appeared at the Girl Scout Thinking Day program Thursday evening in Circleville First Evangelical United Brethren church.

Miss Seela Chayanayodhim, a teacher in Bangkok, Thailand, who is now working for her masters degree in education in Ohio State, told the group that Thailand was formerly called Siam but the name was changed five years ago to Thailand, which means "land of freedom."

She said that "Bangkok is sometimes known as the Venice of the East because of its many canals."

As no Girl Scout movement exists in Thailand at the present time, the speaker spoke of the work of the Boy Scouts in her country.

She told that the Scout movement is helping to develop stronger, healthier, happier youths, teaching them many skills that are useful to them in later life.

In answer to questions Miss Seela said, "Our native homes are wooden and are built six feet off the ground to allow for ventilation. The furnishings are very similar to yours except for the cupboards which are all removable."

She continued: "Our people eat meals consisting of much the same fare as in your country except that we eat rice in place of potatoes."

The second speaker, Miss Renate Witver of Bavaria, Germany, is an English teacher in Turvengen, Germany, an accomplished violinist and author who is taking a year of supplementary work in OSU.

Miss Witver commented on the contrast between the terrain around Columbus and that of her home high in the mountains of Bavaria.

She said, "There are no fields such as you have here and girls as young as five years old tend the cattle."

She explained that their dairy products are exchanged with visitors for dresses, curtains and tablecloths.

The speaker also told that the people wear beautiful costumes at all times and that few children go to school as the snow is so deep five months out of the year that the sole means of transportation is by ski or horseback.

She remarked that "there is but one teacher for five or six villages and girls from six to 16 years of age all occupy one school room."

The third speaker, Miss Sirka Salomaa of Turku, Finland, appeared in her native costume.

She is a teacher of psychology in the University of Turku and is studying in Ohio State for one year.

Miss Salomaa explained that the money received in payment of Finland's war debt is being used for scholarships.

She remarked that "Finland is very proud of its Scouts. The movement was first started in 1910, but it wasn't until five years after Finland proclaimed her independence, in 1917, that the organization was firmly founded."

She added, "Girl Scouting exists only in the four largest cities where the girls' primary interest is outdoor activities."

She said that the youngest Girl Scouts in Finland are 11 to 12 years of age. There is no age limit as they believe, "Once a Girl Scout, always a Girl Scout."

The three speakers answered many questions put to them in the discussion period which followed their talks.

The Girl Scout Thinking Day Program is held each year to honor the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Juliette Low chairman, was in charge of the evening's program.

Mrs. Bernard Young, Pickaway County Girl Scout commissioner, led the group of about 80 in the opening.

Mrs. Mitchell also introduced Mrs. Mary Swaney, director of Zonta International House at Ohio State university.

Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—When jewelry designers decided to make 1951's choker necklaces more comfy, what was their solution? ... It might as well be springs!

Richelieu, longtime creator of costume gems, today introduced the ultimate in practical pearl chokers—an expansion necklace labeled the "hugs and gives."

This throat-circler comes in from one to five strands of pearls, is constructed with minute springs that are hidden within the core of each pearl at the back of the necklace.

The patented spring movement keeps the necklace in place (a fraction of an inch under the Adam's apple), and allows it to expand and contract with every leap of the larynx. The total effect, in comfort and chic, is similar to a custom-made necklace.

A woman can have "dash"—on very little cash—by making a few sparkling additions to last year's gloves.

Spring and Summer gloves, 1951, are dotted up with flowers, beads, sparkle and fancy stitching.

Any really smart woman can achieve the chic effect with a needle, 50 cents worth of trimming from the five-and-dime, and an hour's leisure time.

Most popular, and copy-able of the new gloves, are white or navy cottons with tiny artificial posies whipped around their cuffs; little sparkling buttons stitched in scattered confusion to the glove back; baby beads sewn in rows down the finger backs, or rick-rack anchored in ruffy rows around the wrist.

The fashion story has been "out of print" for four years—but this Spring, the stenciled fabric is back with a boom!

Prints have never been bigger-mode-wise. And you can almost spot a designer by the spots on the material before your eyes.

For instance, if a dress is made of animal print (and costs upwards of $100), the designer is probably Adrian. He splashes almost life-size animals down the fronts of his sheath skirts.

Nettie Rosenstein's print insignia is the delicate flower that trails down the hipline. The illustrious Trigerelike abstract patterns—jutting lines that mimic a fever chart.

Mainbocher picks small, precise patterns, the kind you might find on conservative men's ties. Ceil Chapman chooses flowers and curlicues that resemble nothing more strongly than watchworks.

Live Stage Play Scheduled Here For Youngsters

Circleville Junior Women's Club is making final preparations for presentation of its annual live stage play here, given especially for Pickaway County school children.

The production this year is John Ruskin's classic, "King of the Golden River."

It is to be presented at 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in Cliftona theatre. The sponsoring club uses proceeds each year for a special charity project.

"King of the Golden River" will be given by a cast from Clare Tree Major Children's theatre in New York City. Ten persons make up the cast of this three-act play.

Drastic effects of droughts and water-shortages all too frequently occurring in various parts of the United States in many ways duplicate the experiences of the "wicked brothers" in "The King of the Golden River."

Sweltering sun shining almost incessantly over the land, without relief from wind or rain-clouds, sapping mercilessly at the life of all vegetation, leaves behind wilted plants, arid soil and financial lows for farmers in the afflicted areas. The same consequences take their toll in Ruskin's classic story. But being a fairy tale, this water famine is a magic one.

The young hero, Gluck, and his two wicked brothers are the owners of a productive farm nestling in a fertile Bavarian valley. They reap a fortune in gold from the fine harvests until one dark and stormy night, the two selfish brothers refuse shelter to a strange little old man who comes to their door.

To punish them, the old man returns and with magic power changes the course of the mild Southwest Wind and of the Golden River so that they no longer serve the crops of the valley. Soon only a barren wasteland remains, and the brothers are poorer than the poorest of their neighbors whom once they had so scorned.

But in every fairy tale, misfortune must yield to a happy ending and "The King of the Golden River" is no exception.

YES, WE'RE MAKING YOUR

Telephone

Service

More And More Valuable To You

It's difficult even for us to realize it, but do you know that during the past five years

... we have gained 11,420 telephones throughout our system.

... We have expended several million dollars for extensive improvements and replacements of telephone facilities.

AND THAT IN 1951

... Subject to war mobilization controls and material shortages, our plans call for continued expansion of facilities and improvements in service throughout this company's entire operating area of 39 exchanges now serving a total of over 45,000 stations.

HERE'S OUR RECORD OF PROGRESS:

Number of telephones in 1945 --- 34,260

Number of telephones in 1950 --- 45,103

During 1950 alone we installed nearly 3,000 additional telephones. So, you see, we're making progress. Other telephone companies are, too, and, of course, the more telephones you can reach and the more who can reach you, the more valuable your service becomes. That's why we continue to say—

The Value of the Telephone is Greater Than the Cost!

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS

Sponsored by this Newspaper

Mold tomato aspic in two shallow tins and use them as layers.

Every hostess puts an effort into the meat course or the dessert when serving for company but in the effort to prepare these dishes she sometimes loses sight of an equally important part of the meal—the potatoes. To add zest, imagination, and genuine taste to your potato servings, you must see "250 Ways of Serving Potatoes," the thirteenth cookbook in the series of twenty-four being released to readers of The Circleville Herald.

All of these cookbooks are crammed full of exciting ideas for cooking enjoyment, but the Potato Book is especially good because it covers a phase of cooking that is so often slurred over. So many hostesses will just shake out a bag of potato chips into a bowl without realizing that it takes very little added effort to put a real taste-treat on your buffet table. Here is one of many ideas from the Potato Book that are well worth trying:

POTATO ASPIC SALAD

2 packages aspic gelatin
4 cups tomato juice
2 cups Potato Salad

Dissolve aspic gelatin in 2 cups boiling tomato juice, add remaining juice. Pour half of gelatin mixture into an oiled mold. When partially set, add a layer of potato salad and pour remaining aspic on top. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 8.

Mold aspic in 2 layers. When firm place potato salad between.

POTATO SALAD

2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 large onion, chopped fine
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
2 tablespoons water
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup minced parsley

Mix potatoes, onion and eggs together lightly. Heat water, salt, pepper and butter until butter is melted; add vinegar. Pour over potato mixture; mix thoroughly, then chill. Sprinkle parsley over the top. Serves 4.

Scioto Valley Grange Chiefs Are Entertained

Officers of Scioto Valley Grange met Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of Lockbourne Route 1 to plan the year's project.

At the close of the business and social meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Caldwell.

Officers attending this meeting were: overseer, Al Haslep; lecturer, Mrs. Al Haslep; chaplain, Mrs. Edson Doersam; treasurer, Harold Fisher; steward, Harold Bumgardner; assistant steward, Edwin Swayer; lady assistant steward, Fern Dennis; gatekeeper, Chester Fosnaugh; Prmona, Mrs. Harold Bumgardner; Ceres, Mrs. Agnes Reigel; Flora, Mrs. Robert Peters; home economics chairman, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell; legislative chairman, Paul Peters; and trustee, Robert Dennis. Caldwell is worthy master.

oughly, then chill. Sprinkle parsley over the top. Serves 4.

Like so many of the recipes in the Potato Book, this combination does not really involve much work but the delight of your guests will more than compensate for the slight added effort. And for many other good ideas you will want to get your copy of the Potato Book soon. All you need to do is present 15 cents to your independent grocery in Circleville.

ter's assistants were Frederick Vanderbilt Field, John D. Rockefeller III, Miss Catherine Porter and Hobart N. Young. The Rockefeller Foundation was represented by Roger S. Greene, the Carnegie Corporation by Frederick P. Keppel. The British delegation was headed by Viscount Hailsham, former lord chancellor, as chairman.

This was a big affair of top-notch personalities. I shall discuss this Kyoto conference in subsequent articles, but here I wish to include a statement of purposes of the institute as prepared for this conference by its secretary, J. Merle Davis:

"The international machinery by which nations have been dealing with one another since the beginning of history has been evolved on the assumption of the inevitability of war; of the necessity of force as the means for adjusting their differences. From this has sprung the school of secret diplomacy with its inevitable code of reticence and the withholding of facts. This technique to be effective requires the dominance of the few; the acquiescence and ignorance of the many. Since 1918, however, a different international technique has appeared. This is born of a new vision of human relations, based upon the concept of the rights of the weak, international interdependence, the power of facts, the intelligence of the people and their participation in government. The Institute of Pacific Relations has emerged as a part of the mechanism which the era provides for meeting its new requirements."

$100,000 Anita
Derby Readied

ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 24.—Eleven flashy three-year-olds, the survivors of 66 nominated last Dec. 1, go to the post today in the 14th running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby.

A sloppy track was in prospect for the mile and one-eighth race. It rained heavily last night and further showers were forecast for today.

Rough'n Tumble, the one-horse stable owned by Mrs. Frances Genter of Minneapolis, was the 5 to 2 overnight favorite.

Pickaway Falters In Tournament

fracas by maintaining an almost absolute control of the backboards and, by the same token, held the ball in its possession most of the game.

Jim Brigner was the scoring ace for the championship Monroe combine during the test with a total of 14 points to his credit, while Teammate Bob Haller was second with a dozen and Lester Sanders, ball-hawking Indian center, tallied 11.

Pickaway's scoring efforts were led by Dale McAfee with 11 points, while Center Bill Evans connected for 10.

Only 34 personal fouls were called during the encounter, 19 against the Indians and 15 against the Pirates.

In the New Holland-Darby consolation thriller, New Holland's Bulldogs all but skunked the Darby defenders in the first period by registering a 10-2 advantage.

Playing an extreme defensive style of ball, along with a slow, deliberate method of working the ball in toward the goal, New Holland continued to lead at the half by a 20-11 tally and at the three-quarter pole by a 24-20 margin.

MAKING A LAST-quarter rally, the Darby Trojan team edged up to within a 27-31 striking distance of New Holland at the three minute mark and tied the score at 32-32 with only one minute of play remaining in the contest.

George Pettit, constant scoring threat during the match, collected a field goal via a jump shot in the final minute of play to give New Holland a two-point lead with but seconds of play remaining.

Robert Downs, diminutive Darby set shot ace, duplicated his feat of last Wednesday in the final 10 seconds of the game as he uncorked a long set shot from near the centerline to deadlock the game at 34-34 and send the game into overtime.

Last Wednesday, Downs was responsible for his team's victory over the Ashville Broncos.

With but about three seconds of that game remaining and with the score tied at 46-46, the sharp-shooting Downs unleashed a heave from midcourt which stripped the net, giving Ashville a defeat.

In the Friday consolation finals overtime, Walter Helsel put New Holland ahead with a pair of free throws, although Ronnie Kennard of Darby evened the count shortly later with a jump shot.

NEW HOLLAND again took the lead when Pettit netted a free throw, but, with only 15 seconds remaining, Ronnie Borrer tied the score at 37-37 with a charity toss.

Racing the ball toward his goal in one last desperate shot attempt before the game was thrown into "sudden death," Pettit was fouled as he shot, receiving two tries at the free throw line.

Pettit missed his first attempt, although collecting the game-winning point on the second one, giving the Bulldogs their 38-37 trip to the "B" district tourney.

Helsel of New Holland and Kennard of Darby tied for game scoring laurels during the overtime fracas, each netting 13 points.

Record Crowd Counted For Finale Of 1951 County Basketball Meet

A record crowd for this year's Pickaway County basketball tournament piled from the stands following the final contest Friday night to cheer the championship Monroe team.

More than 3,100 fans were on hand for the finale of this year's cage classic, according to Tournament Manager John Hardin.

Hardin reported a total of 1,814 paid admissions and 300 passes for the evening.

A long line of spectators waited patiently for the coliseum to open Friday night, more than an hour before the first game was scheduled to be played.

And the crowd was not satisfied to quit the coliseum before Monroe had received its just due for booting home its first county tournament championship.

LISTED AMONG the crowd was Chief Don Eagle, headliner in the grunt-and-roar circles, who was swamped by autograph-seeking youngsters and oldsters alike after he was introduced by Hardin.

Probably the biggest thrill for the record crowd Friday occurred during the Darby-New

Walter Hobbie Earns Niche In Wilmington

Atlanta's Walter Hobbie has completed his fourth year of basketball with Wilmington College Quakers to set a new scoring record for his school.

Labelled "great" by his coach and teammates, Hobbie closed out his college cage career Thursday with 35 points against Bliss college in Columbus.

Son of Superintendent and Mrs. Warren Hobbie of New Holland, the cage ace has racked up a total of 1,339 points for his 85 college games, averaging 15.7 points per game.

Hobbie's name will go down in history in the Wilmington college for his outstanding scoring career.

Hobbie has broken every basketball record in Wilmington, surpassing a 24-year-old mark of 1,171 points set by All-State Cal Zigler in 109 games.

DURING HIS HIGH school career in Atlanta, in which his father is now superintendent, Hobbie was named for All-County and All-District honors, along with honorable mention in the state.

Hobbie is 23-years-old and served with the U. S. Army in Alaska before entering Wilmington college.

This year, his final season, was the best of the four for Hobbie, who garnered a total of 467 points for the season.

Hobbie this season hit for more than 40 percent of his field goal attempts and more than 70 percent of his free throw attempts.

The Atlanta lad ranked on the 1948 and 1949 All-Ohio honorable mention lists and probably will receive the recognition again this year.

Boxing Champs Told To Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—The New York State Athletic Commission cracked down on two champions today in what is believed to be the first step in a concerted effort to unfreeze boxing titles.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York commission, warned Light Heavyweight Champ Joey Maxim and Lightweight King Ike Williams to sign for defenses by April 1 or give up their thrones.

Pickaway-Monroe Play-By-Play

Holland game when the crowd leaped to its feet when a long set shot caromed from the backboard to send the game into overtime.

But nearly all of the fans were on hand to form a tight semicircle around the scoring table after Monroe's victory for the presentation of trophies.

A total of eight award winners were acknowledged during the windup ceremony of this year's cage classic, the award rites conducted by George D. McDowell, county superintendent of schools.

Climaxing the award presentation was the championship trophy, received by Captains Lester Sanders and Bob Haller.

Bubbling over, Sanders accepted with a flurry which ended "gee thanks."

Coach Clyde Plant of Monroe, who brought to the school its first tournament championship and co-championship of the county league in his second year of coaching there, accepted with: "The boys did a great job."

OTHER TROPHIES awarded during the ceremony were second place tournament trophy to Pickaway; third place trophy to New Holland; and the game ball to Darby.

In addition, Darby was awarded this year's reserve league championship trophy, while Williamsport received the second place reserve cup.

Although the acknowledgement was made during the ceremony of the co-championship honors won by Monroe and Darby in the league, neither team received its trophy.

A trophy was ordered as soon as it became apparent a league tie would result this season, but the other cup had not arrived in time for the tournament.

Still to be awarded and presented is the top individual trophy of the tournament—the Bob Bowsher trophy which will go to the most outstanding player.

Sponsored by The Circleville Herald, this award honors Bob Bowsher, standout Circleville high school athlete who was the first county war hero to be returned home for burial after World War II.

Winner of this trophy is being determined by a vote of the coaches of the 11 high schools in the county system.

Tabulation of the votes is to be completed early next week.

Toledo Names New Grid Pilot

TOLEDO, Feb. 24—Head Football Coach Bob Snyder of the University of Toledo resigned suddenly Thursday and the school's board of trustees promptly appointed Don Greenwood, Snyder's first assistant, to replace him.

Snyder announced his resignation after conferring with Asa Knowles, newly-appointed president of the university.

Greenwood came to Toledo a year ago. Previously he served as freshman coach at Yale and at Western Reserve.

Illini Favored Over Buckeyes

CHICAGO, Feb. 24—A highly-favored University of Illinois quintet invades Ohio State's home territory tonight in an attempt to tighten its grip on the lead in the Western Conference basketball title race.

The fighting Illini, with 10 victories in 11 conference games, need a victory over the ninth-place Buckeyes to keep well in front of Indiana. The Hoosiers, with one more game than Illinois, are still within striking distance of the championship.

RULINGS ARE SOUGHT

Conservancy District
Recesses Until March 19

COLUMBUS, Feb. 24 — The Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District court has recessed until March 19.

The court Thursday held in abeyance the rulings on a motion by Delaware County Prosecutor Clyde E. Lewis to dissolve the conservancy district on the ground it has not accomplished its purpose.

Lewis also moved to eliminate the Mill Creek and Delaware dams from the district's overall plan for seven flood-control reservoirs in 17 counties. This motion, made on the grounds the district has not complied with the law, also was held in abeyance.

The court will meet again to consider testimony on the list of cost estimates, as presented by Conservancy District Chief Engineer C. C. Chambers, which Attorney Allen Pretzman said should be included in the plan.

Lewis introduced as evidence two telegrams from U. S. Representative J. Harry McGregor (R-W. Lafayette) opposing the official plan. McGregor's wires said Congress has not authorized the Mill Creek, Paint Creek, Deer Creek, Big Darby Creek and Rocky Fork reservoirs. He held that the U. S. Army Engineers have not even approved the Mill Creek reservoir for passage by Congress.

PRETZMAN, attorney for the conservancy district, countered by introducing two pamphlets referred to in the 1938 Flood Control Act which he said showed congressional authorization of all the reservoirs except Mill Creek.

McGregor's telegram said the Army Engineers will hold public hearings in Columbus March 12 to catch up on the latest public opinion on the Mill Creek reservoir.

No decision on the adoption of the district's plan can be expected before the last of April or early May because the court allowed 25 days for the submission of briefs after completion of a transcript of testimony which must be made after the March 19 session.

The court decided to take testimony on George Washington's birthday when it became evident that cross-examination of Chambers would take more time.

The estimates of a little more than $63 million for the eight major projects are to be included in the district's overall plan on a motion by Pretzman.

Lewis fought this move on the ground they should have been put in the plan at the start.

Chambers admitted there are no computations of the annual benefits to be derived from each project. He also admitted at least part of Georgesville in Franklin County would be flooded.

GE Employees
Out On Strike

CLEVELAND, Feb. 24—More than 800 General Electric workers are idle today at the company's strikebound Euclid lamp works on Cleveland's east side.

The strike, which started late yesterday when 15 employees walked out in a dispute concerning piecework rates, was officially endorsed last night by Local 707 of the leftwing United Electrical Workers.

John Theil, local president, said members of the union, which was expelled from the CIO because of alleged pro-Communist policies, voted to settle grievances pending for more than two months.

More than one-tenth of all American 1946-47 medical students were women — an all-time high.
